

Upstream supply chain integration

Bringing efficiency to the upstream supply chain between manufacturers and suppliers

- Tuesday 2 March 2010 at GS1 UK's offices in Central London
- Thursday 4 March 2010 at The Priest House Hotel in Derbyshire

Agenda (correct as of 16 February 2010)

10.30am	Coffee and registration
11.00am	Welcome and roundtable introductions Tim Brown, Solutions Manager, GS1 UK
11.15am	The benefits of collaboration between manufacturers and suppliers in the upstream supply chain David Weatherby, Business Consultant, GS1 UK
11.30am	What is upstream supply chain integration? An introduction to GUSI (Global Upstream Supply Initiative) and how GS1 UK can support you Ceri Christensen-Jones, Sector Manager, GS1 UK
12.00pm	GS1 standards and GUSI Shan Welch, Technical Consultant, GS1 UK
12.15pm	Q & A and morning round-up Tim Brown, Solutions Manager, GS1 UK
12.30pm	Lunch
1.15pm	The six building blocks of the UIM (Upstream Integration Model) - including a detailed look at automating the goods receiving process Shan Welch, Technical Consultant, GS1 UK Tim Brown, Solutions Manager, GS1 UK
2.00pm	Upstream supply chain integration – a manufacturer's perspective Glenn Hempton, Global Supplier Connectivity Director, Procter &amp; Gamble and David Hogg, Sterling Commerce London workshop only Roland van den Bossche, Process Manager PtP &amp; Supplier Integration, European Supply Management, Unilever Europe Derbyshire workshop only
2.45pm	GUSI – the global approach Regenald Kramer, Business Manager, GS1 Global Office
3.30pm	The upstream supply chain – traceability and product recall David Weatherby, Business Consultant, GS1 UK Tim Brown, Solutions Manager, GS1 UK
3.45pm	Q & A and wrap-up Tim Brown, Solutions Manager, GS1 UK
4.00pm	Close